Name

Romily Parker

Age

29

Occupation

I write jingles and do voiceovers for Brum FM in Birmingham. (It's not all double-glazing commercials, honestly!)

Role in The Pinstripes

Singer

Favourite album:

That's easy. October Road by James Taylor. It's the first place I go to when I want a real feel-good album.

Favourite food:

I'd have to say my aunt's cakes. They're heavenly.

How would you describe yourself?

I'm a bit of a dreamer. I love music and my friends. I believe that anything's possible, even if it doesn't look like it. I love high street fashion and probably spend too much money on clothes, especially outfits for gigging. Oh, and I'm nothing like my mother!

What would be your dream gig?

I'd love to perform an American Songbook set at The Symphony Hall in Birmingham, supported by a full orchestra. And I'd want The Pinstripes to be there, naturally.

Tell us about your quest

It's just something I feel I have to do. Even though I was only with my handsome stranger for a short time, there was a connection I felt with him that was unlike anything I've ever experienced. That kind of thing doesn't happen every day and I would be an idiot if I didn't try to find him again. I know people think I'm insane – I agree with them to a certain extent – but I'm excited at the prospect of spending a year of my life following my heart. So even if I never see him again, at least I will be able to say that I tried, you know?
